ANDY ROONEY GOES TO THE "ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW"

By Paul Ruggeri, our Narrator, who hopes this will be something you remember for a very long time.

The other night, I saw the "Rocky Horror Picture Show," and boy, was I ever flabbergasted! The audience was the craziest, wierdest, and least mentally stable group of people I've ever met! Why do they shout and throw things at the screen like that? What about the people who act out the movie in front of the screen? Why do they do that? Anyone who stands up in drag in front of a crowd of raving maniacs, only to have toilet paper on rice and various other assorted objects thrown at them must need drastic psychological attention. And the water pistols. There's another thing that bugs me. I've stayed dryer by going out in the pouring rain without a raincoat. It's funny I should speak about raincoats because I bought a new one a month ago and it's already coming apart at the seams. Shoes bother me too. They're so expensive. Shoelaces. What are those things on the end of them called? Nobody really knows. Movies really bother me too. Did you ever get to the theatre, pay for your ticket, have the usher rip it in half, put the stub in your pocket, and three weeks later it's still there? Doesn't it bother you? It bothers me. Nuclear war. There's another thing that bugs me ...

GET WELL SOON

The cast wishes Mr. Jarvis a speedy recovery from his operation. We hope to see you back soon, Mr. J.

CORRECTION

Last week, I stated that the RHPS was going into it's 5th year at the Jane Pickens Theatre. Actually, it is completing it's 5th year. Thus, it will be going into it's 6th year. So I was wrong. Big deal.

ON HELP

Our need for help is still there and problably always will be. There are still the small parts that need filling (Ralph, Betty, ect.). We still need all the Transylvanians that can make it to this part of the galaxy. And many weeks we need substitutes for people who can't show up to do their usual parts. Perhaps those who fill in the small parts could also fill in the big parts when a regular cast member is out. I don't want to seem pushy or bossy, but if people don't start coming up and voluntarily offer their services for replacing missing cast members, I'm just going to have to pick people out of the audience and force them to do the part! Like it or not! Somebody has got to do it. I'm sorry it has come to this, but "a decision had to be made."

Also, if anyone has or can get any good props for the show, please let us know. That would be help too.

 Anniversary Show coming - June 11th and 12th. Don't forget! ***
(Attendance will be taken - we have all of your names registered)
