CAST CALLING

Last week, I said that we needed cast members and told you all about the fantastic benefits of being in the cast (You know, getting to know us and all). As of now, I can be more specific about openings. We need a permanent Brad on Friday nights. We need a permanent Criminologist on Saturday night. We need permanent light people both nights. We will need a near-permanent Dr. Scott on both nights after this week. We will probably need one more permanent male in some male part also very soon. We will also be needing one more permanent female part on Saturdays after New Years day.

This is not to say that we don't want more substitutes either. The more people we have to call on, the better. This is also not to say that if you are permanent, you have to pledge with your blood (an idea I fought for but had to give up on due to recent negative public views on bloodletting) that you'll be there every week, but that you are available most of the time until further notice.

If there, by some miracle, happens to be 2 people interested in one part who come to us at about the same time, we will try to work something out there too. If you just want to help out but don't want to act, we still will find something that makes you happy. If you just want to talk about the possibility of getting involved but you're not sure, why don't you do that too.

You can get in contact with us by writing or by coming up to us after or before the show.
