

Warwick ROCKY

VOL. 1 NO. 2 February 24-25, 1984

FREE - AT THE WARWICK MALL CINEMAS

HOLY COW!

Congradulations and thank you to the audience last weekend, especially Saturday night (a whooping 250). The show has not seen such large numbers in quite a long time. Guess word got out that WE ARE HERE, NOT at the Cinerama (n.k.a. CVS).

Large audiences help every because much of the fun of the show is the excitement that spreads from people to people. With more people, there is more of a flow spreading that feeds on itself and produces an even greater output (Far out man!).

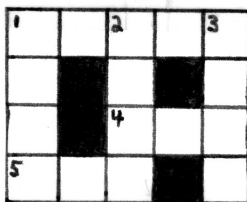

So, keep coming to the show. Where else can you go and experience anything like the Rocky Horror Picture, a place where you can go and have an excuse for being ... yourself.

INTRODUCING : MR. SIZEMORE T. BONES

Last week, I was surprized to hear the largest audience response to any cast member was to our closet skeleton, Mr. Sizemore T. Bones. Mr. Bones, who likes to be called Sizemore by the cast, doesn't have an especially long part in the show, but his appeareance marks the begining of the rise of excitement during the Time Warp. As Riff Raff opens the coffin door containing the remnants of perhaps a distant ancestor, it is Sizemore who gleams out at you with his hollow but radiant smile, sending an errie chill into the audience that starts up the insanity that will follow. After that, Mr. Bones gets lost in the shuffle, but inside he knows it is he who has really started it all.

When talking with Sizemore, I found him to be a very open individual (in more ways than one). I asked him if it bothered him to be dead, and he said that after a while, you get used to it. "It gets a lot better after you lose your flesh and you're just a bag of bones. You feel less weighed down." He has come to expect a lot less from the living world, finding that death has many advantages. For instance, you'll never see ole' Sizemore get hungry, or drunk, for that matter. He just can't hold his liquor.

Asked if he would ever leave doing the show to go back to the grave, Sizemore adamantly replies - No. He says he feels too free to ever go back to hanging around with a bunch of stiffes. And after waiting 150 years for decaying cells to rot off his body or be eaten off by worms, who can blame him?

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

- (1) What Riff does to 3 people at end of movie
- (4) Eddy is the ____ of Dr. Scott's sister
- (5) What everyone except Riff and Magenta does at dinner

DOWN

- (1) What Frank does to Brad's chest
- (2) Criminologist says "Lost in time, ____ in space"
- (3) Frank says "Turn yourself over to ____ of the flesh"

First one to get it done gets a big hug and a kiss on the bottom of your spine.