COMING and GOING

BOX TALK

The Rhode Island RHPS Cast has made agreements with the 2 closest casts to us to exchange nights with each other. We won't be doing the show at each other's theatre the same night, since we'd like to get a look at each other to see what we can learn. The agreements are simple: we go there when we are ready and they come here when they are ready.

The exchange should prove interesting to audience members who havn't seen other casts before (although if you stay away from here about 2 months at a time it must seem like a new cast each time). The casts involved are the Boston-Cambridge cast from the Harvard Square Cinema and the Groton cast from the UA Theatre in Connecticut.

As of now, we are planing to hit Cambridge on March 22. We are undecided yet on Groton. We have heard no dates from the other casts for their visits here.

WORDS to the MUSIC

Wise Up, Janet Weiss

I'll tell you once, I won't tell you twice. You'd better wise up, Janet Weiss. Your apple pie don't taste too nice. You'd better wise up, Janet Weiss.

I've laid the seed, it should be all you need. You're as sensual as a pencil, Wound up like an 'E' or first string. When we made it, did you here a bell ring?

You got a block. Well, take my advise. You'd better wise up, Janet Weiss! The transducer will seduce ya!

Happy Birthday Jonathan Adams (2/14) aka Dr. Scott

Letters from the SUGGESTION BOX

"For the Newsletter, how about starting a new article called 'Virgin's View' where first timer give their opinions of the show."

Brian Ramsey

Response: Fine, if you can catch them running out the door. What I'd like to try is "Returner's Reasons," telling us why people are drawn to come back a second time.

"I think the show is great! Do it in the nude." Anonymus

Response: Only if the audience is nude too.

"...more male Frank-n-Furters in the cast, less female male impersonators."

Response: Guess we can't fool everyone.

"Send free tickets to Swan School of Design ... New Bedford, MA"

Response: Where were you when we went to SMU?

"Sex."

Response: Maybe...
