OK! OK! The Water is Back On.

Due to the overall good behavior of the audience since the water has been shut down early during the movie, owners Paul & Barbara Anderson have decided to leave the water on throughout the movie instead of the cutoff time after the rain scene. A few months ago, the CTC was forced to take measures due to the overzealous water gun fights. In a related matter, the SANE Section (formerly SAFE Section) will still be in effect. This section takes nothing away from the rest of the audience.

It is important, now that liberties have been returned, to realize some rules of safety:

- 1) Squirting is allowed only while SITTING in your seats. This disallows squirting in the lobby, behind the wall, or standing in the seat area.
- 2) NEVER squirt into the SAFE Section, at the CAST, and (most importantly) at the policeman.
- 3) Do not take water out of the TOILET. Not only is that classless, but dangerous due to chemicals in the water.
- 4) Use COMMON SENSE at all times. Don't hurt anyone.

Other than those rules, there's a lot of room for fun. And it'll stay that way if you want it to. RR

"The Sword of Damocles is hanging over my head" - Rocky's first w

WHO IS THIS DAMOCLES, ANYWAY?

Damocles, in Greek legend, was one of the courtiers and flatterers of Dionysius the Elder (430 - 367 BC), tyrant of Syracuse, a Greek colonial city in Sicily that flourished in the 5th and 4th centuries BC. The story of "The Sword of Damocles" has become the classic illustration of uncertainty of human greatness and happiness. As Damocles was extolling the greatness of Dionysius, the ruler invited him to a magnificent banquet. In the midst of the entertainment, Damocles looked up and saw, suspended above his own head, by a single thread, a naked sword. This sight made him realize that the power and wealth enjoyed by royalty are frequently attained at the cost of piece of mind and are in constant peril of loss by a whim of fortune.
