THE BEST OF ROCKY "Rocky Shorts" Edited by Sheilarae Carpentier

The following articles are some favorite "Rocky Shorts" from the past. They are reprinted from Providence Rocky Volume 2, Numbers 2 and 3 (1983) and from Rhode Island Rocky Volume 1, Numbers 26, 28 and 48 (1986). All the articles were written by Roy James Rossi, Rocky's editor these past 4+ years.

"Joke"
Q- What do you get when you divide Riff Raff by two?
A- Riff Haff.

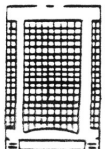

"On Jokes"
I have been informed by certain individuals that they found the joke that I published last week to be stupid. Well, all I can say is that I thought it was pretty funny because I made it up myself. If someone out there can think of some good RHPS jokes, how about sending them in? Even if I don't think they are as funny as mine, I'll put them in just to amuse those who don't want me to ever write a joke again as long as I live. (Needless to say, I am hurt by this whole thing.)

"Elections"
Tuesday is election day. You should all vote. Our recommendations follow:
 Rocky Horror Picture Show
 Everything else in life

"Back"
Don't forget to set your clocks back one hour after the show tonight. This is a United States law put into effect back in 1975 for the benefit of RHPS followers to get an extra hours sleep. It's a good law, too. So do it.

"Space Probe Spots Castle"
In a surprize discovery, a space probe sent to get a close up of Halley's Comet found a castle nearby! Anybody got any ideas where THAT came from?

Life After Rocky

Before the movie SHOCK TREATMENT was released, Richard O'Brien had other ideas about a storyline for a sequel to the RHPS. Take a look at the plot below to see the original ideas put forth.

Unfortunately, the problem of getting back the original actors to recreate their parts forced alterations to the script. The plotline was chopped and changed until, finally, we got what some of you have seen in the movie SHOCK TREATMENT. Four of the original 10 major actors appeared in the movie (Richard O'Brien, Pat Quinn, Little Nell, and Charles Gray), but none recreated their RHPS parts. Two RHPS characters returned (Brad & Janet), but were played by new actors. Only two minor characters (Ralph & Betty Hapschatt) appeared in both movies with the same actors.

Will SHOCK TREATMENT become another great cult movie? I think not. But it was fun.

ROCKY HORROR SHOWS HIS HEELS

I would like, if I may, to continue our strange journey. It seemed that Riff Raff and his sister, Magenta, had thoroughly exterminated Frank N. Furter and his entourage. Brad Majors and Janet Weiss have gotten married, as planned. Dark storm clouds, heavy, black and pendulous, emitted electrical charges about the crater where the castle once stood. Rocky Horror is reanimated and carries Frank's badly decomposed body to Dr. Everett Scott and Brad. It's true that none have escaped the effects of the Floor Show, held that late November evening. They carry a burning desire for more of Frank's forbidden fruit. It's true, also that I'm constipated, a symptom common for those without necks. Janet is pregnant and about to give birth. Brad is faced with the realization that the baby will not, cannot, be his. Is the child Frank's or Rocky's? Lips will tell.
