

BE HERE NEXT WEEK ... or else

You see this week's number up there? It's printed big so you don't miss it. It's a reminder. You've been hinted at, implored to, and even begged of to come to the RHPS at CTC on CENTENIAL WEEKEND. You've been told that the NEWSPAPER will be here both nights to give away free t-shirts as prizes. You already know that there will be an announcement of the most ambitious audience contest that we've ever undertaken at CTC (and I'll bet anywhere else). Of course, we will have strong casts both nights. And surely you've been hearing radio advertizements on WHJY-FM and you've made sure you'll get a copy of this week's NEWSPAPER to see the full page ad.

There's really no good reason not to make it. Imagine admitting to someone that you missed week # 1 0 0! How embarassing. Everybody would know you as being a stupid idiot. Hardly a desirable status.

Look, everything's going to be here, set up for you. I'd feel bad, even sick, if you didn't make it. Maybe even a little mad. Yes, we'd all be very mad, actually.

What more do I have to say. For those of you still unsure, take some "friendly" advice. You don't make it to CENTENIAL WEEKEND, you're DEAD. That's right - D E A D. Finito lifo. Can you dig that? You'll be killed!

the BALD SOPRANO

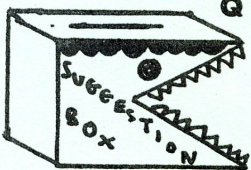

Sheilarae Carpentier of the RI RHPS Cast is now one of the stars in another play. She's currently playing the part of "Mrs. Smith" in the "Bald Soprano." Also starring are Arthur Chapman, Michael Gump, and Rob Ostrander, and Susan LaMond. Randi Sharp, the director of the play, also stars.

You can see the play, along with another play called "Action" at the Blue Pelican Jazz Club on West Broadway in Newport. They show Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday this week and next week. Be there by 8:45. Both plays are productions of Blas Haus Theatre.

I am not much of a literary or theatre critic, but I've seen both plays twice. I found both very entertaining. They are different from each other, but the actors all delivered very strong performances. There was no deadwood up there. They were/are directed well, costumed appropriately, and acted out with high energy. I think you'll have fun and be impressed watching both! RR
