“CULT”

CULT. uh oh, moonies selling flowers at the supermarket, a brain-washing satanic club, not good images. But you, yes YOU are in the Rocky Horror CULT! AAaah! The fact that your reading this newsletter proves that.

If you, after viewing R.H.P.S. as many times as you have, still continue to pay for, and watch it, you are in the cult.

If you, after acting in a cast, knowing your character inside and out, not getting paid, and sometimes acting for less people than can fit in your living room, still continue to perform, you are in the cult.

If you go so long that you are one of the last existing "ORIGINALS" from whatever R.H. era you came in on at your theater, you are in the cult.

If you travel to conventions no matter what the cost, or if you are in the Rocky Horror Fan Club, you are in the cult.

If you catch an R.H. mention in a movie, T.V. program, or radio show, and are prepared to kill anyone who touches that dial, you are in the cult. If you've missed concerts, parties, T.V. shows, dates, homework, games, and everything else to go to the Horror, you are in the cult.

Now hey, I'm not going into why you are in the cult, you know why, to have a good time.

But is there a practicle use of this cult? Can we form a powerful Washington based lobby and elect the leaders we like? Can we organize an army to take over every movie theter in the world? Could we become more of a religious cult, transform the theaters into real churches at midnight, follow one of the sets of Rocky Horror 10 Commandments ? Transform R.H.P.S. into the Old Testament, and Shock Treatment into the New? Every cast director could become the pastor of their church...no, that wouldn't work. Someone would be caught cheating with somebody else, and we'd lose the ministry to Jerry Fallwell.

Well what is our pourpose then? What is the long term goal we hope to achieve? How about the short term? IS THERE ONE AT ALL?? YES, how dare you ask tat young man, go stand in the corner!

So we are in a cult, big deal. We go to have fun. When we stop having fun, we stop going. When we want Rocky-fun back we start back up. THAT is the long and short term goal, and don't you forget it young man!

This CULT is has lasted 12 years, and by Tim it's going to last another 12 (if it's still fun of cource). But others need to be introduced to this wild, crazy, liberal, accepting, family type, reliese that happens every weekend.

Don't be gaunded of you grouo to those who are not of the asshole persuasion. Let all in Cool-land enjoy it's splendor. Don't limit the un-limitless enjoyment to a select few who fell into it. Don't hide the fact the you go to Rocky Horror and love it!

Stand up and say "I LOVE ROCKY HORROR!" Wear that Rocky T-shirt, put on those R.H.P.S. buttons. Talk about it, shout about, get others into it. And HAVE FUN damnit, or you go straight upstairs without supper!
