

VOL. 4 NO. 91 June 16-17, 1989 FREE MEADOWBROOK CINEMA

Groton Cast Visits Rhode Island

We'd like to welcome the Groton, CT RHPS cast from the UA Theatre. It's been almost a year since we last saw them here at the Meadowbrook. Next week, a contingent from the RI Cast will travel to Groton to do the show down there. We will try to do our best to have some sort of cast here next Saturday, but we ARE warning you. If anyone has been thinking of getting up here & doing the show, now's as good a time as any since there's nothing to lose. RR

Thanks for the Support

Last week we had an unusual & unfortunate event at the Meadowbrook. In a nutshell, 4 a$$h0le$ and a (probably drug-induced) maniac infested the theatre. The maniac and his buddies were not giving the cast too bad a time, but WERE making life hell for some many audience members. The maniac was romping arounding threatening people and basically way out of control. The 4 buddies took to sneaking in rocks and throw-them at audience members. The maniac was eventually confronted and politely asked to leave. He didn't. A fight broke out & ultimately the maniac & his a$$h)le buddies were pushed out the door.

A few comments to make. First of all, the cast & management of the theatre usually handle this kind of crap. But in this case, we DO appreciate the help we received from some of the audience members. We didn't, or at least I didn't, even know who these helpers were BEFORE the incident. But they got up & helped us anyway. It's almost never necessary, but's it's nice to know that when things really got out of hand, the audience backed us up. Maybe we are not all the best of friends in this building every week, but this is OUR show - the cast & audience. This show is open to all. Even hecklers. But it was refreshing to see cast & audience standing side by side when it was necessary.

Secondly, instead of feeling bothered by the search when you come in, maybe you should consider thanking the searchers for trying to stop any of the ridiculous crap that the occasional new $hithead tries to sneak thru. They are only trying to protect innocents. And they know that 99 % of everyone walking through isn't up to something. When they take something away, they know that you probably didn't know it was against the rules when you walked in with it (or else you'd have been asked to leave without a refund when you were asked to return it to your car or hand it over). RR

UA Theatre Directions

3 roads: 95 South; exit 88; left off the exit; go to end of road; go right; theatre (in shopping plaza parking lot) down road on left. It's that easy. Less than 1 hour from Warwick, RR

LAST WEEK at MBC

	ATTENDANCE	DOOR PRIZE
FRI	37	Jason "the Brawler" Gill	The bigger the crime,
SAT	85	Erik Erikson	let the death be more horrible.
